

HAVE YOU HEARD ...

CAMERAS were rolling at New Jersey's tallest residential condominium tower, Trump Plaza Residences in Jersey City, recently when HGTV came to visit.

The building is being featured on an upcoming episode of HGTV's top-rated design competition show, HGTV Design Star.

Filming took place on-location earlier this year at Trump Plaza Residences Jersey City, where the show's finalists were split up into two teams and challenged to design a two-bedroom residence.

The two-episode installment will feature Donald Trump, Jr. as a guest judge, who will be on hand to help HGTV Design Star judges — celebrity designers Candice Olson of Divine Design, Genevieve Gorder of Dear Genevieve and Vern Yip of HGTV Urban Oasis - with their final evaluations of the model residences.

ANTHONY DEGROTTA, CEO at A.C. Lawrence, thinks he has the answer to happy agents — Broker Heaven.

That's the name of the real estate training firm — led by former Citi Habitats broker Greg Young — that the company has drafted in to take its agents to the next level.

"Given his success and proven track record, we are confident Greg will bring tremendous value to our agents," said DeGrotta.

While the brokerage already runs its own in-house program, managing partner Frank Sanchez, said: "In this hypercompetitive market, we strive to give all of our agents the best tools to ensure their success, regardless of where they are in their career or how long they have been in the business."

BBROWN HARRIS STEVENS' Steven Marvisch is listing the co-op home of the late Rue McClanahan.

CANDICE OLSON

The Golden Girls actress — who died of a massive stroke last month — lived in a three bedroom, two bath unit that has its own private garden at 430 East 56th Street.

The apartment has floor-to-ceiling windows and plenty of closet space. the asking price is $2.25 million.

THE transformation of The Powerhouse Condominium in LIC from factory to luxury condos will be presented in pictures at an exhibition of photography by Eric Laverty.

Laverty — a celebrated streetscape photographer — documented the conversion of the building from the beginning of work in 2006 to its opening.

His exhibition will open at the building at 2-17 51st Avenue tomorrow night (Thursday) at 6:30 at an event hosted by exclusive brokers, Modern Space,

The event will be catered by the Breadbox Cafe, which will soon be open for dinner service. Attend to find out how you can get your name up on one of the rolling pins that will adorn the eatery's facade.

IN our profile on Fabienne Lecole, we stated that she currently lives in Carnegie Hill. Fabienne in fact lives in Harlem.